24 TO ALL PARTIES AND TO THEIR COUNSEL OF RECORD:

25 PLEASE TAKE NOTICE THAT on Monday, September 15, 2025, at 10:00
26 a.m., or as soon thereafter the matter may be heard, in Courtroom 8D of the above
27 entitled court located at 350 West First Street, Los Angeles, California 90012,
28 Defendants County of Riverside, Shawn Hubachek, and Jimmie McGuire

1 (“Defendants”) will move this Court for an Order staying the trial court proceedings,
2 pending resolution of Defendants interlocutory appeal (Case No.25-4537).

3 This Motion is made pursuant to the “divestiture of jurisdiction rule” since all 4 remaining claims are aspects of the appeal. See U.S. v. Claiborne, 727 F.2d 842,
5 850(9th Cir. 1984). Specifically, the remaining claims have been properly appealed 6 on the basis of standing and qualified immunity. Further, this motion is also made 7 pursuant to the inherent discretionary power of district courts to stay proceedings
8 pending before them. See Rohan ex rel. Gates v. Woodford, 334 F.3d 803, 817 (9th 9 Cir. 2003), abrogated on other grounds by Ryan v. Gonzales, 568 U.S. 57, 133 S. Ct.
10 696, 184 L. Ed. 2d 528 (2013). As such, the orderly course of justice and balance of 11 hardships favor staying the entire action pending the resolution of the appeal.

12 This Motion is based upon this notice, the attached memorandum of points 13 and authorities, the papers and records on file in this action, and upon such 14 additional oral argument and documentary evidence as may be properly before the 15 Court at the time of the hearing on this matter. This motion is made following the 16 conference of counsel pursuant to L.R. 7-3 which took place on July 31, 2025, by e-
17 mail. Then, again, by phone on August 1, 2025. See Declaration of Kayleigh

MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES

I. BACKGROUND

On June 23, 2025, this Court issued its ORDER GRANTING IN PART AND DENYING IN PART DEFENDANTS' MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT (Doc. 54). Pursuant to this decision, the following claims remain active in the case:

1. Plaintiff, V.L.’s First Cause Of Action for excessive force, pursuant to 42 U.S.C. section 1983, against Defendants Sergeant Shawn Hubachek (“Sgt. Hubachek”), and Deputy Jimmie McGuire (“Deputy McGuire”);

9       2. Plaintiffs S.L., V.L. and Carolyn Campbell's ("Plaintiffs") Third
10 Cause Of Action for violation of 14th Amendment rights/right to familial
11 relationship pursuant to 42 U.S.C. section 1983, against Defendants Sgt. Hubachek
12 and Deputy McGuire;

13       3. Plaintiff, V.L.’s Sixth, Seventh, and Eighth Causes of Action, under 14 state law (respectively, for battery, negligence, and Bane Act) against Defendants 15 County of Riverside, Sgt. Hubachek, and Deputy McGuire (collectively, 16 “Defendants”).

17 On July 18, 2025, Defendants filed their notice of appeal from the Court's 18 order on Defendants' motion for summary judgment. (Doc. 55) Whereby, the Court
19 granted summary judgment in part and denied it, in part. Defendants seek an appeal 20 on grounds which include qualified immunity and standing. Filing the notice had the 21 effect of staying further proceedings in the district court on the remaining claims:
22 two federal causes of action against Sgt. Hubachek and Deputy McGuire, and V.L.'s 23 three remaining state law claims against all Defendants. See Griggs v. Provident
24 Consumer Disc. Co., 459 U.S. 56, 58 (1982), Chuman v. Wright, 960 F.2d 104, 105
25 (9th Cir. 1992). By this motion, Defendants ask this Court for an order to stay all 26 proceedings in this action until the pending interlocutory appeal comes to a 27 resolution in order to prevent simultaneous jurisdiction of the trial court and 28 appellate court.

1 II. A MOTION TO STAY IS APPROPRIATE AS ALL REMAINING
2 CLAIMS ARE ASPECTS ON APPEAL.

3 In the Ninth Circuit, an interlocutory claim is immediately appealable, and its 4 filing divests the district court of jurisdiction to proceed with trial. United States v.
5 Claiborne, 727 F.2d 842, 850 (9th Cir.1984), cert. denied, 469 U.S. 829, 105 S.Ct.
6 113, 83 L.Ed.2d 56 (1984). Without a stay, any district court ruling could lead to 7 inconsistent results.

8 A. V.L. and S.L.’s Standing Issues Concern the Remaining Federal 9 and State Claims, Not Dispositive on Summary Judgment.

10 Generally, “[t]he filing of a notice of appeal is an event of jurisdictional 11 significance—it confers jurisdiction on the court of appeals and divests the district 12 court of its control over those aspects of the case involved in the appeal.” Griggs, 13 459 U.S. at 58. This rule, divesting the district court of jurisdiction, is not based on 14 statutory provisions or the rules of civil procedure, but “is a judge made rule 15 originally devised in the context of civil appeals to avoid confusion or waste of time
16 resulting from having the same issues before two courts at the same time. Claiborne, 17 727 F. 2d at 850. Certifying that an appeal is frivolous or waived is an exception to 18 this rule. Rodriguez v. Cnty. of Los Angeles, 891 F.3d 776, 791 (9th Cir. 2018).<sup>1</sup> 19 However, to date, there have been no such certifications. Even if there were, the 20 basis of standing is not frivolous as concrete legal questions exist.

21 Defendants recognize and appreciate the Court’s decision as to S.L. and 22 V.L.’s disparate standing issues, but respectfully submits that these issues present a 23 proper basis for an appeal. First, Wheeler v. City of Santa Clara 894 F.3d 1046 (9th 24 Cir. 2018), instructs that S.L.’s 14th amendment claim is barred. Inadvertently, the 25 Court’s ruling created an impermissible exception legal authority under Cal. Civ.
26

27

<sup>1</sup> Importantly, the divestiture rule operates differently from a discretionary analysis
28 under Landis v. North American Co., 299 U.S. 248, 254 (1936).

1 Proc. Code § 377.60 and Cal. Prob. Code § 6451.

2       Second, Defendants assert that V.L.’s standing, as to her survival claims, are 3 predicated on the presumed parent standard. This standard operates under a two part 4 analysis: (1) receiving the child, and (2) openly holding out the child as their natural 5 child. See, e.g., Estate of Britel, 236 Cal. App. 4th 127, 138 (2015)(exploring the 6 term “openly hold” under California statutory construction), as modified on denial
7 of reh’g (May 15, 2015). However, Defendants posit that the Court did not properly 8 evaluate the second prong. Separately, as to V.L.’s wrongful death claims, she 9 cannot fall into any category contained in Cal. Civ. Proc. Code § 377.60 that would 10 enable her to have standing. See Stennett v. Miller, 34 Cal. App. 5th 284, 289-306 11 (2019). (analyzing Cal. Civ. Pro. § 377.60 involving an absentee father and 12 California laws of intestate succession.)

13       B. Qualified Immunity

14       “In general, an appeal of an order denying qualified immunity divests the 15 district court of jurisdiction to proceed with trial on the issues involved in the appeal.”
16 Gonzalez v. City of Alameda, 21-CV-09733-DMR, 2023 WL 6851991, at *1 (N.D.
17 Cal. Oct. 16, 2023), Chuman, 960 F.2d at 105.

18       As mentioned above, there have been no motions to certify Defendants’ appeal 19 as frivolous. To the extent Plaintiffs sought such relief in the future, it would be 20 unwarranted. Frivolity requires a qualified immunity claim “that is unfounded, so 21 baseless that it does not invoke appellate jurisdiction and that a forfeited qualified 22 immunity claim is one that is untimely or dilatory”. Marks v. Clarke, 102 F.3d 1012, 23 1017, n. 8 (9th Cir. 1996), as amended on denial of reh’g (Feb. 26, 1997) (internal 24 quotation and citation omitted). That is not the situation here.

25       Suzuki v. Cty. of Contra Costa, No. 18-CV-06963-SI, 2019 WL 4674418 (N.D.
26 Cal. Sept. 25, 2019) proves instructive. In staying the case, the Court noted:

27       An appeal from the denial of qualified immunity is not frivolous solely 28 because the district court based its order on what it perceived to be clearly established law. To certify the appeal as frivolous on account of 1 the very question that defendants seek to appeal, as plaintiff urges of this 2 Court, is to render defendants' ability to appeal a nullity.

3 Suzuki, supra, at *2 (internal citation omitted).

4 Related, “[e]ven a district court’s belief that parties are unlikely to prevail on 5 appeal is insufficient alone to warrant certification of the appeal as frivolous.” Id.

6 In denying qualified immunity, the summary judgment order discussed, inter
7 alia: Estate of Lopez by & through Lopez v. Gelhaus, 871 F.3d 998, 1001 (9th Cir.
8 2017); George v. Morris, 736 F.3d 829, 832 (9th Cir. 2013); Curnow By & Through 9 Curnow v. Ridgecrest Police, 952 F.2d 321, 323 (9th Cir. 1991); and Estate of Aguirre
10 v. County of Riverside, 29 F.4th 624, 629-30 (9th Cir. 2002). Defendants submit that 11 those cases are factually distinct from the underlying incident and do not create 12 “clearly established” law, as defined by White v. Pauly, 137 S. Ct. 548, 551-552
13 (2017) and other Supreme Court precedent.

14 Qualified immunity is a complex area of law, demonstrated by the ample 15 appellate and Supreme Court jurisprudence concerning the topic. See e.g. White, 16 supra, 551-552; Richardson v. McKnight, 521 U.S. 399, 408 (1997). Insofar as the 17 topic brings professional disagreement among appellate courts. Further, an appeal 18 may proceed even with disputed facts. The Ninth Circuit may review a denial of 19 qualified immunity where a defendant argues that the facts, even when considered in 20 the light most favorable to the plaintiff, show no constitutional violation, or no
21 violation of a clearly established right. Ames v. King County, 846 F.3d 340, 347 (9th 22 Cir. 2017). This could occur because Defendant is appealing denial of qualified 23 immunity, and qualified immunity consists of two prongs: “(1) whether there has 24 been a violation of a constitutional right; and (2) whether that right was clearly 25 established at the time of the officer’s alleged misconduct.” Lal v. California, 746
26 F.3d 1112, 1116 (9th Cir. 2014) (internal citation omitted).

27 / / /

28 / / /

1 III. EVEN UNDER DISCRETIONARY STANDARDS PENDING THE 2 RESOLUTION OF AN INTERLOCUTORY APPEAL, A STAY
3 REMAINS APPROPRIATE.

4 The Ninth Circuit has explained that “[a] district court has discretionary power
5 to stay proceedings in its own court under Landis v. North American Co., 299 U.S.
6 248, 254, 81 L. Ed. 153, 57 S. Ct. 163 (1936).” Lockyer v. Mirant Corp., 398 F.3d
7 1098, 1109 (9th Cir. 2005).

8 The Lockyer court explained that:

9 Where it is proposed that a pending proceeding be stayed, the competing 10 interests which will be affected by the granting or refusal to grant a stay
11 must be weighed. Among those competing interests are [1] the possible 12 damage which may result from the granting of a stay, [2] the hardship or 13 inequity which a party may suffer in being required to go forward, and 14 [3] the orderly course of justice measured in terms of the simplifying or 15 complicating of issues, proof, and questions of law which could be 16 expected to result from a stay.

17 Lockyer, 398 F.3d at 1110; citation omitted, material in brackets added.

18 Pursuant to the standards set out in Lockyer, the Court should stay the 19 proceedings in this action pending the resolution of the interlocutory appeal filed by 20 Defendants.

21 First, justice will benefit from granting a stay. All of the active claims asserted 22 by Plaintiffs against Defendants are stayed by virtue of the filing of their appeal. If no 23 stay is granted here, the parties will conduct a trial that will not differ much from the 24 one that would have occurred if the defendants had chosen not to file their appeal. But 25 if that appeal does not succeed, Defendants would likely be faced with having to go
26 through a second trial almost identical to the first one. Collateral estoppel may limit 27 some of the issues to be addressed in such a second trial, but likely not all. So denying 28 this motion for stay would likely negatively impact “the orderly course of justice” by requiring two trials of the claims against Defendants rather than just one. Granting the stay would naturally simplify matters, by allowing all of the related “issues, proof, and questions of law” to be presented to a single jury in a single trial.

Second, the balance of hardships favors granting this motion for a stay. The other two factors the district court should consider when ruling on a motion for stay pending appeal are “the possible damage which may result from the granting of a stay” and “the hardship or inequity which a party may suffer in being required to go forward”. Lockyer, supra, 398 F.3d at 1110. Essentially, the court is required to balance any hardship that granting the stay might impose on the party opposing the stay against the hardship that the moving party will suffer if the stay is not granted.

8        The hardship Defendants will suffer if a stay is not ordered in this matter 9 pending the resolution of the pending appeal has essentially been set out in the 10 preceding section: inconsistent rulings, duplication of efforts by the defendants (as 11 well as plaintiffs and this Court), and subjecting the defendants (and other witnesses)
12 with having to attend and testify at two trials rather than just one. In contrast, the only 13 damage the plaintiff might suffer as a result of the granting of the stay would be a 14 delay in the partial trial of her claims against the defendants. (Part of the potential trial 15 has already been stayed as a result of the filing of the interlocutory appeal.)

16 | IV. CONCLUSION

17 For these reasons, Defendants' request that this Court grant its motion to stay 18 the district court proceedings.
